

Globalisation at work

PM Lee Hsien Loong cites how British Museum director Neil MacGregor reflects globalisation with a football jersey from English club Chelsea. It was shortlisted for the last part of his radio series "A History of the World in 100 objects".

Chelsea is a football club in England

It is owned by billionaire Roman Abramovich from Russia

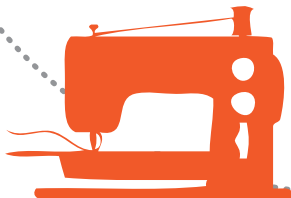

British Museum bought it from a market vendor in Peru

Jersey was made by workers in China

Jersey number belongs to striker Didier Drogba from Ivory Coast
