THE EPL'S BEST XI

Jamie Vardy, in a new pair of golden Nike Hyper Venoms, made history on Saturday by scoring for the 11th Premier League match running in Leicester City's 1-1 home draw with Manchester United. Here is a look at his feat in numbers.

1 headed goal

13 All 13 goals during this run were scored inside the box.

10 with his right boot

12 Touches Vardy had in the first half – the fewest of any player – but he still found the net.

111 His 11-game record came on his 111th league match for the Foxes.

2 with his left boot

545 His goal marked the first time that Manchester United conceded from open play in the league in 545 minutes.

NEW TARGET IN SIGHT

He can equal the all-time top-flight record of goals in consecutive games at Swansea on Saturday.

● Jimmy Dunne scored in 12 straight matches for Sheffield United in 1931-32.

● Stan Mortensen netted 15 goals in consecutive appearances for Blackpool in 1950-51, but missed matches during that run due to injury.

TWEET SUCCESS

Well done @vardy7! You're number one now and you deserved it. #11inarow.

Ruud van Nistelrooy, former United striker who shared the record for most consecutive Premier League games scored in until Saturday

Congratulations @vardy7 what a magnificent achievement!!!

Alan Shearer, the Premier League's all-time leading scorer with 260 goals

Congratulations to Mr Vardy....what a story ...always believe kids...it's never too late.
