

What The Lady said

VIOLENCE

She condemned all human rights violations and unlawful violence.

SITUATION IN RAKHINE

She pointed out that the majority of the Muslims were staying in Rakhine, so the situation was not so bad.

TREATMENT OF MUSLIMS

She said she wanted to find out the reason for the exodus, noting that Muslims living in Rakhine had access to healthcare, education and infrastructure.

REFUGEES

She said refugees in Bangladesh could return after a process of verification.

We would like you to think of our country as a whole... It is as a whole only, that we can make progress.

What she didn't say

ROHINGYA

She did not refer to Rakhine Muslims as Rohingya, as per official policy.

MILITARY

She did not address allegations of rights abuse by the military, saying that there had been "no armed clashes or clearance operations" since Sept 5.

The security forces have been instructed to adhere strictly to the code of conduct in carrying out security operations, exercise all due restraint and to take full measures to avoid collateral damage and the harming of innocent civilians.

Myanmar leader Aung San Suu Kyi walking off the stage yesterday after delivering a speech to the nation over Rakhine and the Rohingya situation.

PHOTO: REUTERS STRAITS TIMES GRAPHICS