

Vision for a global power

2-STAGE GOAL

China aims to become a top innovative nation by 2035, with a large middle-income population and narrower wealth gap, and a nation with global influence by 2050.

NEW GUIDING PARTY IDEOLOGY

• "Socialism with Chinese characteristics for a new era" is the new ideological guiding principle for the Chinese Communist Party.
• One central idea is that the party should lead in each and every aspect of life in China.

WORLD-CLASS MILITARY

The armed forces will complete their modernisation by 2035, and the military will be world-class by 2050 – one that can fight and win wars across all theatres.

STEP UP WAR AGAINST GRAFT

• China will step up measures against corruption as it aims for a "sweeping victory".
• The Chinese Communist Party will also strengthen internal supervision of members across all levels, as no one is above the law.

'ONE CHINA'

• China will not tolerate any bid for independence by Taiwan. It calls for talks and unobstructed exchanges with Taiwan, but the island must recognise the 1992 Consensus that both China and Taiwan belong to one China, with each side having its own interpretation of what this means.
• The "one country, two systems" policy must also be implemented in Hong Kong and Macau.

OPEN-DOOR ECONOMY

• China will not close its doors to the world, but will become more and more open.
• It will deepen market-oriented reforms of its exchange rate and financial system, while at the same time strengthen the role of state firms.
• It also vows to protect the interests of foreign investors.

GREATER GLOBAL ROLE

China will increase assistance to the least developed countries, support multilateral trade regimes, and actively promote international cooperation through its Belt and Road Initiative.
