

Public attitudes towards fake news

Where do you usually come across fake news?

I support strengthening Singapore's laws and regulations to better deal with the spread of false information

Do you think there should be more effective laws to require those who publish fake news to remove or correct the fake news?

Do you think people who put out fake news deliberately should be prosecuted, if their actions have serious consequences?

