

Key changes at primary and secondary levels

ST PHOTO: KELVIN CHNG

✓ P3, P5, Sec 1, Sec 3:

Over the next three years, mid-year exams will be scrapped

✓ P1, P2: No exams from next year

✓ Report book:

From next year, no class/cohort rankings. No comparison of marks. No pass/fail.

✓ Edusave awards for lower primary:

To recognise love for learning

NO MORE CLASS RANKINGS

I know that coming in first or second, in class or level, has traditionally been a proud recognition of a student's achievement. But removing these indicators is for a good reason, so that the child understands from a young age that learning is not a competition, but a self-discipline you need to master for life.

EDUCATION MINISTER ONG YE KUNG, seen here at the press conference with Mr Wong Siew Hoong (left), director-general of education, and Mr Sng Chern Wei, deputy director-general of education (curriculum).