

Bringing back the wildlife

The 4km stretch of former railway tracks known as Rail Corridor (Central) is being repopulated with native trees and plants, as a 500m former concrete drain running alongside gets turned into a stream to allow native aquatic life to thrive.

