

Dumping ground

A huge quantity of plastic waste is being redirected to South-east Asia after China closed the doors to its recycling facilities last year.

