

Road to a July election?

Political observers say the general election could be held as soon as Singapore enters phase two of reopening the economy after the circuit breaker. This is a possible timeline.

Singapore enters phase one of reopening the economy

Parliament sits to discuss the $33 billion Fortitude Budget announced on May 26

Singapore moves into phase two of reopening the economy

Parliament is dissolved and the Writ of Election issued

Nomination Day, when candidates file their nomination papers

Cooling-Off Day

Polling Day

Another potential election window, as schools will have a mid-term break