

Updated measures

From Sept 1, general travellers from Brunei and New Zealand can enter Singapore without having to serve a stay-home notice. But they must be tested for Covid-19 on arrival.

Singapore's travel advisory updated to allow general travel to Brunei and New Zealand. Travellers heading there should check entry requirements.

The duration of stay-home notice (SHN) cut from 14 days to seven days for travellers from these low-risk areas: Australia (excluding Victoria state), Macau, China, Taiwan, Vietnam and Malaysia. Travellers must take a Covid-19 test before the end of their SHN.

Students can travel overseas for studies if the educational institution does not offer distance learning.

F&B outlets must play only soft background music so customers don't have to speak loudly. Booking multiple tables for large gatherings discouraged.

From Sept 1, outdoor exercise classes will be allowed at more open spaces at SportSG centres, parks and HDB common areas, with safety measures in place.

Plans to resume live performances are under way with the authorities and National Arts Council looking at commissioning small-scale pilot performances.

Lift users will be exempted from the 1m safe distancing requirement but they will have to wear masks, refrain from speaking, and use hand sanitisers provided in lifts.
