

Strong partnerships, trusted Government

In her address to Parliament on Monday, President Halimah Yacob stressed the importance of partnership between Singaporeans and the Government to help the country emerge stronger from the crisis. Here are the key initiatives:

Partner Singaporeans to build a resilient and caring society

- Emerging Stronger Conversations for Singaporeans to share their hopes for the country and contribute to building a stronger society
- Grow volunteerism efforts through the SG Cares movement
- Partner employers and the community to support Singaporeans' marriage and parenthood aspirations

Transform the public service

- Strengthen Singapore's revenue position to fund growing national needs, especially in healthcare and social spending
- Develop a framework for responsible and sustainable use of borrowing to finance major long-term infrastructure investments
- Organise the public service differently, including more cross-agency teams
- Develop a more diverse public service by recruiting officers from different backgrounds

Accelerate digitalisation in Government

- Make digital services accessible to all citizens, especially seniors and the less digitally literate
- Strengthen the government data security regime
- Build up the national digital infrastructure to support seamless digital transactions and commerce
